The Shepherd Speaks

Your Pastor Speaks about Discipleship...

In the past few weeks the Gospels have been depicting Jesus' calling men to be his apostles, the foundation for his new church. He chose people who would lead others to desire to walk with Jesus on our life's journeys. As I recently celebrated yet another anniversary of my birth, I realize that the Lord's disciples have been with me on my life's journey thus far.

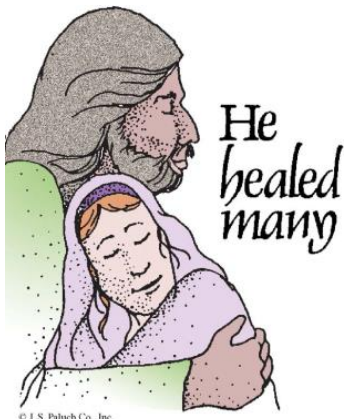

My parents were the ones who sparked that glimmer of faith that I wanted for my life. The priests who went through Holy Family Parish in Wharton showed me that holiness in leadership is not only possible but a lived experience. The nuns who taught me academically taught me more than just numbers. They showed me how beautiful it is to live Christ every day. My large family and friends showed me how the demands of Christ' life can only be bared by a whole community.

I suppose some of the greatest examples of Christ in my life have been seen in the people I have served in all of the parishes I have been assigned to. Thank you for being the Lords disciples to me.

Fr Tim

Tireless Discipleship

The stories we have been hearing these weeks come from the very first chapter of Mark, and they show us the public ministry of Jesus in its infancy. Today's account shows some of the strain or adjustment of his new life of preaching the reign of God, healing the sick, and casting out demons. Notice that after sunset, when darkness ended the workday, people brought the sick and possessed to Jesus.

The following day he rose before dawn to get away by himself to pray, but to no avail. Simon Peter and the others do not just look for him, they pursue him, filled with the fervor that his ministry has incited.

With the self-sacrificing example he gave until the end of his earthly life, he tells his followers that this is his whole purpose. Through Mark, he is also telling the early church, and he is telling us, that this is our purpose, our vocation: to be tireless in our pursuit of proclaiming the Good News, and in bringing the healing, reconciling touch of Christ to the world.
